PRODUCE the highest Class AERATED WATERS in the Far East on account of their High Class Machinery and also of the superior ingredients they use in the manufacture of their goods, and the cleanliness, &c., are all under strict supervision of Europeans only.

REPORT OF AN EXPERT.

The representative of Messrs. BRATBY and HINCHLIFFE, LIMITED, Aerated Water Engineers and Chemists, Manchester, visited our factory recently in the course of a tour amongst Eastern Aerated Water Makers, and was greatly surprised at the compactness of our factory and also the methodical way in which everything pertaining to the making of Aerated Waters was carried out. He also expressed himself strongly on the absolute cleanliness of our whole establishment, which he assured us was equal to any he had yet visited and superior to a great many. He also reported that the quality of our goods was of a first class nature, and they showed that scrupulous care was exercised in the course of their manufacture.

TRADE MARKS REGULATIONS.

(Specially Translated for the Shanghai Mercury.)

The Board of Commercial Affairs recently compiled draft regulations for the registration of Trade Marks in China. There is another draft originally compiled by Sir Robert E. Bredon and forwarded to the Board of Commercial Affairs through Sir Robert Hart but the Board of Commercial Affairs compiled the following draft quite independent of the first draft made by Sir Robert E. Bredon. It was the intention of the Board to submit the new draft regulations to the Throne for Imperial sanction. The Board of Foreign Affairs, or the Waiguan, having, however, suggested that the draft had better be approved by the Powers concerned before submitting it to the Throne, the Board of Commercial Affairs laid the draft before the foreign representatives in Peking. British and Japanese Ministers replied to the said Board that they had already sent the draft to their respective home governments for approval.

In any case the new draft regulations will be the basis of the regulations to be adopted as final with a few modifications. The question of registration of trade marks is important to local firms. It is important to know what steps are being taken by the Chinese authorities since the provisions were made by China in the new revised treaties with Great Britain, U.S., and Japan.

Article I.—Either a Chinese subject or a foreigner shall register trade marks in accordance with the stipulations of these regulations. A trade mark shall have a "special feature" which is to be made up with either picture, characters, or signs, or of their combinations.

Article II.—The Bureau of Registration, which will be established by the Board of Commercial Affairs, will take control of the administration of the registration of trade marks. The Imperial Chinese Maritime Customs at Tientsin and Shanghai will temporarily provide branch offices for the Bureau of Registration. An applicant may apply through these branches as he deems convenient.

Article III.—An applicant shall present application for registration of a trade mark to the Bureau of Registration or through either one of the branch offices at Tientsin and Shanghai.

Article IV.—An application for registration of a trade mark shall contain specimen of trade mark applied for registration, the detailed explanation of the same and also kind of goods, for which the trade mark is intended to be used, which shall be classified according to the classification of goods attached to these regulations. When an application is to be made through one of the branch offices aforesaid a duplicate of such application shall accompany it.

Article V.—The Bureau of Registration will examine an application at least three months from the date of application so as to see if there is any infringement with a trade mark of any other person. In case there is no infringement such a trade mark shall be duly registered.

Article VI.—In case similar, or identical trade mark be applied for registration to be used on the same kind of goods the one which applied earlier will be registered but if both applications were made at the same hour of the same date both trade marks will be registered.

Article VII.—A trade mark already registered in a foreign country will be treated as a registered trade mark from the date of original registration in case registration of the trade be applied for within four months from the date of the registration in the foreign government.

Article VIII.—The following are not allowed to be registered as trade marks:—

1. A trade mark injurious to the order or morality or recognised as for defrauding innocent public.

2. Stamp or seal of the State (such as the Seal of the State, stamp or seal of all the "Ammen, etc.), national flag, military or naval flag or decorations.

3. A trade mark which is already registered by another person or a trade mark which is same as one already used in China as common trade mark at least for two years before an application for registration was made or a similar trade mark already used on a same kind of goods.

4. A trade mark which has no "special feature."

Article IX.—A trade mark can be registered for twenty years for his exclusive use without any distinction between a Chinese subject or a foreigner. A trade mark already registered in a foreign country which has been registered in China according to these regulations can be registered for the original term in a foreign country but such term shall not exceed twenty years.

Article X.—At the expiration of the term of registration further registration shall be made six months before such expiration in case the owner of the trade mark wish to continue to have exclusive use of the trade mark for another term.

Article XI.—When an owner of a registered trade mark wishes to own the trade mark conjointly with or transfer to another person such shall be applied for registration.

Article XII.—If a registered trade mark be found to conflict with the stipulations of 1, 2, and 4 of Article VIII, of these regulations such registered trade mark shall be cancelled from registration.

Article XIII.—When a registered trade mark be found conflicting with the stipulations of Article VI. or 3 of Article VII, an interested person may apply for cancellation or registration of such registered trade mark, but if such application is not made within three years after such a registration was made it will not be accepted.

Article XIV.—When application for registration of a trade mark is not in order the Bureau will reject such application by giving the reasons for such a rejection.

Article XV.—If an applicant is not satisfied with the reasons given by the Bureau for the rejection of an application he may appeal to Bureau for re-examination within three months from the date of the first rejection.

ENGLISH SPRING HATS.

When Spring and bright weather may reasonably be hoped for, the milliners make haste to show the New Season's styles, and happy ladies make haste to discard the Hats that have seen the wear and tear of winter's rains and fogs.

Such a hat is well fitted to show up a clear, healthy skin. Sallow faces cannot meet these bright colours. But who, after all, need be pale and sallow? Nowadays Dr. Williams' pink pills are known to Women both in Town and Country, as givers of Beauty as well as health.

Beauty, in woman at least, largely a matter of regular health. Women who suffered in silence for years have found in these pills a magic touchstone of comfort as well as beauty. Anemia, or lack of blood, the cause of so many headaches as well as of the pale lips, colourless cheeks, loss of appetite, breathlessness on a slight exertion, and other common ailments among women, is cured by the new blood which Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people give in every dose. And the frequent headaches, pains in the side, and general misery which come so frequently to almost every woman, making them invalids for four or five days at a time, vanish like magic when these pills are taken at the right time. Spring is a season when we all need new blood as well as New Hats.

the scientific importance of pure and healthy blood, it has come to be quite a fashionable custom to forestall the disturbing influence of Spring weather by renewing the blood with a course of Dr. Williams' pink pills. They not merely stave off illness, but also give positive results in the shape of good looks, bright eyes, and regular health. Having no purgative effect, they may be taken with perfect confidence by men and women of all ages.

The case of a young lady—Miss Harriet Nash—at Wilmore, near Stratford-on-Avon, England, is interesting. Her mother said of her that she had been so weak from anemia that she could hardly climb the stairs to her bedroom. She presented an awful sight—pale as a host, with sunken eyes and hollow cheeks. All her spirit left her, and she would moan about the house looking the picture of abject misery. Her relations and friends never expected her to live. However, Dr. Williams' pink pills were brought to her notice, with the result that she commenced to improve. The effect was miraculous. Miss Nash immediately began to get well. Her appetite improved, she put on flesh, the colour returned to her cheeks, and in a very short time one would have thought that she had enjoyed nothing but robust health from early childhood. She was literally rescued from the brink of the grave.

Here is a very ordinary case. Many have suffered in just the same manner and been cured by the same means. Dr. Williams' pink pills may be had direct by post from Williams' medicine company, Holborn-viaduct, London, for two shillings and ninepence, or six bottles (thirteen and nine) but they can be bought at medicine shops, if you take care to get Dr. Williams' and no substitute. They have cured thousands of cases of anemia, bile, consumption, rheumatism, kidney disease, paralysis, and St. Vitus' dance and can be cut into pieces and given to children according to directions. They are of special value to women when they feel ill and do not like, for reasons known to themselves, to see a doctor. To return to the subject of our illustrations,

Figure III. is a toque of crimoline straw, with a rouleau of black velvet, the trimming consisting of velvet ribbon, set up in loops, into which should be stuck a couple of quills. A smarter and more becoming Hat for the Spring Season can hardly be wished for.

PORT ARTHUR.

Those best qualified to give an opinion have prophesied that it is about the latter end of July that we may expect to see the fall of Port Arthur and from now expectation is at its highest pitch. Everybody will be much surprised if the fortress is still in the hands of Russians by this time next month. It is significant to notice that the British Fleet mysteriously left Wei-hai-wei on the 7th, under sealed orders, as telegraphed by Our Correspondent, and has remained with steam up and every preparation for a sudden call in the vicinity. At Wei-hai-wei it is rumoured that Admiral Noel is in communication with Admiral Togo by direct correspondence, and there is much likelihood that important movements in the fleets of Great Britain, France and Germany in these waters might be connected with the projected attack on the Russian Port. It will be remembered that, in 1894, when Japan's hard won prize was taken from her grasp in the moment of victory Germany had a large hand in backing up the action of Russia in appropriating the treasured port. It is therefore with no small chagrin that Germany would witness the reversal of her influence, and it is quite possible that she might endeavour to retain some interest in the result of affairs supposing that the Japanese attain their object with a success similar to that which has followed her so far. And now let us review, in some measure, the possible difficulties with which Japan will have to contend in order to bring about the success of her ambitions. Port Arthur has been often declared to be well nigh impregnable. As to its position with regard to attack from seaward, no port probably could be more approaching to the ideal. Shut in by high hills from the landward side, with a narrow channel for approach, it offers vast opportunities of defence by heavy ordnance and submarine torpedo. There is a large sheet of water which, with a little dredging, would make one of the finest sheltered anchorages. This natural harbour is approached by a channel, at one place less than one hundred yards wide, and in no place more than three hundred yards; it is oval in shape, two miles in length from east to west and one mile in width. The harbour is surrounded with hills between three and five hundred feet in height so that the outer roadstead can be commanded and enfiladed from a low lying spit of land known by the Chinese name meaning Tiger's Tail. Naturally, a very heavy outlay was made in all directions to make the place impregnable, but the fortifications are by no means completed and there are few guns in position for checking an attack from the land side. It seems the Russians have rather neglected the land defences, neither have they concentrated their defences to the best advantage. Frowning earthworks and trenches, granite bastions crown the heights, but they are in many cases overlooked from higher land in the background; moreover, they are disconnected and often remote from one another, rendering them liable to be attacked and reduced piecemeal. The country round is deeply scored forming a good deal of what is technically known as "dead ground" where an enemy can find protection from gunfire; there is, in fact, excellent cover for riflemen up to within less than three hundred yards of the outlying defences. It is estimated that only half the forts have been completed with guns in position, and though much has been done latterly it can only be of a semi-permanent nature. Now, the Japanese know every inch of the country; their positions will have been carefully planned so as to take the defences in detail; they have a most skilful combination of artillery and their "shimose" powder is extraordinarily effective. The task they have before them is a hard one, but at no time has it appeared insurmountable to those who have seen the place. The Japanese have demonstrated to the world that lessons learned in the South African war are by no means final; they have reinstated the frontal attack, moral effect they have wiped out of the drill book with successive charges over complete annihilation; the unseen terrors of the mine field they have brushed aside in contempt. Unity of action, fixity of purpose and illimitable courage are their chief weapons, and they are demonstrating to the West the practical application of its methods of warfare. Dating from the time when mining warfare was first adapted in the Far West, engines of war, shrouded at by the Old World, were forced upon them by the New, crumbling away before their defences of tradition and finally armour plate, the high explosive forced its way into modern methods. The new warfare of the future matured in the West has scarcely risen out of its experimental stage before it emerges, handled with consummate skill, out of the Far East marking a new epoch in history and throwing old strategy to the winds. And if the Rising-Sun has demonstrated to all nations the awful nature of national conflict, let us hope that it is but the sweeping away of clouds before the dawn of universal peace when war will be too costly a proceeding to be entertained in the civilised world.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

ADEN was declared to be free from plague on the 23rd ult.

The French mail of the 14th June was delivered in London on the 14th inst.

JIM Christie and Jack Burke signed articles on Saturday evening and arranged for the boxing match to take place on Monday evening, the 1st August.

A HEAVY storm recently swept over Formosa, the southern part of the island suffering most. The damage caused to house property was considerable, 404 houses being demolished, and 279 partly so. Twenty fishermen are missing, and 19 boats were wrecked.

The following is the return of visitors to the City Hall Library and Museum for the week ending 17th July, 1904:—

THERE does not appear to have been much damage caused locally by the strong gale which blew early on Sunday morning and again last evening. Several matchless lost their coverings and a few trees were uprooted. Four sampans are reported to have capsized in the harbour; but whether the accidents were attended by any casualties it has not transpired.

THE Blue funnel steamer Prometheus, which went home from Hankow and Foochow with 7,000 tons of tea aboard, is reported as having arrived in London. There is, so far, no news of the Glentworth which got away a day ahead of the Prometheus. Both steamers left Singapore on the 17th ult., and the Blue funnel liner canalised on the 29th of the same month.

As will be seen in another column the Taichung Dramatic Co., of Taichung, Formosa, will give a performance at the City Hall to-morrow evening commencing at 8 o'clock. We are informed that the object of the Company is not making money. The management propose to forward a certain portion of the money realized to Japan for relief funds in connection with the war.

THERE was a much better attendance at the Theatre Royal on Saturday evening when the Orpheum Comedy Company gave another of their pleasing variety performances. New songs and sketches were produced and the audience was most enthusiastic with encores. A farewell performance is announced for this evening and those who have not yet seen the clever artistes in a really up-to-date entertainment should make an effort to be present.

THE prophet Dowie has had a very short and inglorious mission in London. He could find no abiding place in any hotel in London, and even private persons were very unwilling to entertain the new Elijah. He had to keep his movements as much concealed from the public as possible, and he has realised very early in the day that the people of London were not in the least likely to be taken in by a gross and vulgar imposture. The prophet left London for the Continent, and he is not in the least likely to attempt to resume his abortive mission.

COUNTER attractions and wet weather did not prevent quite a number of people from journeying to the Metropole Hotel on Saturday evening and spending a pleasant time in the theatre adjoining the premises. Mr. Christie had arranged a good programme which, with one exception, was carried through in its entirety, the only absentee being Hugh McCormick, the clever ventriloquist entertainer, who was laid up with fever. Among the most noteworthy items was the singing of Miss Dora Grey, who made her first appearance in Hongkong. She was undoubtedly the favourite of the evening, and it is to be hoped that many opportunities will be afforded of hearing more of her before she leaves the Colony.

THE China military relief from India will probably be carried out in March and April next.

Two cases of small pox, and one each of cholera and enteric fever, were reported as having occurred in the Colony last week.

PEAGUE case No. 437 was recorded to-day. There were nine cases notified since noon of Saturday. The number reported last week was 10, all of which terminated fatally.

THE Transvaal emigrant steamer Courfield, cleared to-day from the Harbour Office for Faku, where she will embark coolies for South Africa. There is still a scarcity of men at the Laai kikok camp, in consequence of the quibbling of the crew regarding certain articles in the Convention.

MEMBERS of the Triad Society were put to flight yesterday morning, when a body of police, acting on information received, moved out at 2 a.m. with the object of making a raid on a house at Yumati where secret meetings have been held for some time past. The plan of capture worked successfully, and, on discovering their danger, the members who were met together, stampeded. There must have been quite a panic, for afterwards, two men were picked up severely injured in the street. It is supposed they had jumped from the upper windows to escape. Another was found dead at the back of the house. He also had apparently jumped from the building. The two injured men were taken to hospital. The others, who were captured, were brought over to the Central Station.

PROF. R. K. Douglas writes to the Times:—"The war in the Far East is being carried on in little-known regions, and the names of places mentioned in telegrams and in the letters of correspondents are variously expressed on paper by writers to whom they represent nothing but sounds imperfectly heard. An explanation of their hard syllables may serve to promote a uniformity of spelling. Let me instance a few. Following in the wake of the Japanese we find that in passing into Manchuria they crossed the Yalu. The meaning of the word Yalu is 'Duckgreen,' and this name map possibly have been given to the stream from the number of ducks on its surface, or from some peculiarity in the colour of its waters. From this point the Japanese marched on to, and took possession of, Chiu-lien-cheng, 'the nine-linked city,' which has been variously written Kiu-lien-cheng, and by the Russians Tu-lien-cheng. The next town that was occupied was Fenghwang cheng, or 'the city of male and female phoenixes.' This has usually appeared in the newspapers as Feng-hwan-cheng. Later we are told that Japanese scouts have been seen on the Mo-lien-ling, or 'the sky-scraping' range, so named from the height of its peaks. It is probable that if the Japanese succeed in crossing this range, they will advance on Haicheng, 'the ocean city,' and may eventually reach Liaoyang cheng, which would appear to mean 'the city on the distant southern slopes.'"

BY TRANSPORT TO THE FRONT.

A PERSONAL EXPERIENCE.

[BY A RESERVIST.]

The transport we embarked on was a fine passenger boat, which, prior to this war, was on the Yusen Kaisha's Australian line. Stopping some hours near Moji, we made straight for our destination. As her speed was much above the average, we overtook during our voyage scores of transports, all evidently bound for the same destination as ours. Some of them were running so close to our course that as we slowly gained upon them, we could easily distinguish the uniforms of our brave soldiers aboard. Then near the island of Tsushima we sighted two war-ships, which as we came closer proved to be our "—" and "—" now famous by their gallant action and conspicuous success at the very outbreak of the war. From the top of the first boat's mast was flying Admiral's flag. Presently signals went up. Salutes were exchanged, and then, in honour of General —, who was on board our vessel, the melodious sound of music came across the water from the Admiral's ship. Although now, and then interrupted by the breaking of waves against the ship's side, we nevertheless greatly appreciated this unexpected entertainment. These two war-ships kept company with us until dusk and then parted.

After — days' run, with the ship's lights out at night, we came early in the morning in sight of land, from the neighbourhood of which were rising columns of dense smoke. As we slowly approached, there appeared one after another, our war-ships of various types, totalling in all — ships. This was the temporary base of our Naval force. All the ships bore evident

they have seen, as their sides, which are always clean in ordinary times and bright with new paint, now presented a much weather-beaten appearance—indicating not neglect, but on the contrary the hard constant devotion on the part of our crew to the more pressing duty of war times. Steam launches and torpedo-boats were busy steaming to and fro between these ships. We saw Admiral Togo. He was much sunburnt, but looked strong and well. After some hours' stay, we steamed out again. When, finally, our landing place was reached, we could count about — large transports all lying at the distance of a few miles from the shore, and busy in landing our men and materials. In this work there must have been more than a thousand junks employed, with an adequate number of tug-boats. The latter took the junks as near the shore as they could. On the shore there were thousands of commissariat so'iers divided and well-organised into small parties, who, just like busy ants around much appreciated food, swarmed beside the junks and quickly carried the cargo to the shore, while the soldiers in the boats, taking off their shoes and trousers, jumped into the shallow water and waded to dry land.

Thus, in spite of the natural difficulties, the landing is effected more quickly than is usually imagined. In our case the embarking which is done in a splendid harbour at home took nearly as many hours as the disembarking in this difficult place. All along the coast, men and horses were quickly organised into companies and were soon marching off inland to their respective destinations, while the heaps of cargo which were rapidly forming were as quickly being taken away by the hundreds of carts assembled. These carts were chiefly Chinese, although our Army is well equipped with their own, which they are now keeping in reserve for future use.

In this neighbourhood I saw

SEVENTEEN RUSSIAN CAPTIVES.

They were in a large room of a Chinese house, and a Japanese sentry was standing at the door. As it was rather early in the morning, most of them were still lying in their beds formed of blankets. They looked mostly young, between 20 and 30. Although the fate of war has made them prisoners, we could not help thinking that they were the brave defenders of their country's interests, just in the same sense as we are of ours. It was not within their power to discuss the right or wrong of the course taken by their statesmen. They had simply to come out and fight, at such a long distance from their home, for their country's cause. No doubt their parents, wives or possibly children in some cases are anxiously waiting to hear the news of their beloved, and yet it will be months before it will be given to their relatives to learn of their fate. Although fighting for an irreconcilable cause, who could help feeling a deep and touching sympathy for these brave foes? We understood they were kept here pending the arrival of another party of prisoners with whom they were to be sent together to Japan.

We spent several nights in this neighbourhood in a tent, and a few days ago moved to another place about 30 miles away. This journey was most trying. The days were hot and sultry. The dust on the road was about a foot deep, and the whole country was bare of trees except one or two at long intervals, where invariably there stood two or three native cottages. As our carts, each drawn by four horses, slowly wended their way,—for we had in our charge some materials to be taken inland,—a would arise and envelop us all. In no time we were thickly coated with dust inside as well as outside of our clothing. We rode on the top of our cargo. But as the road was extremely bad, being a mixture of about an equal quantity of deep dust and big stones, we were continually in an imminent danger of being thrown off. It was an experience when I undertook to take a meal on my cart! I was holding my bento in my left hand and a can of meat firmly between my knees, and tried to manage the two with hashi in my right hand. But so jumpy and shaky was the road that everything, including my own self, continued to dance the most unimaginable discordant dance, and what made it worse was that the contents would insist upon peeping out of the edge of the cases. After repeated futile attempts, I at last jumped down on the road and finished my meal walking.

The scarcity of water in this neighbourhood, not to mention its bad quality, is the most trying thing for the Japanese, who are considered among the greatest, if not the greatest, consumers of water. At a village where we stayed one night, there was only one well fit for use for culinary purposes. Water from a few others was dirty and undrinkable. Upon our arrival there dirty and exhausted, we were calmly informed that there was good or bad, left except just enough to cook the evening meals of the Japanese in that village. We sent one of our Chinese drivers to search and get anyhow any kind of water he could find. After about twenty minutes he reappeared, but with an empty can in his hand. Our dusty state was almost unbearable. Thinking of the power of money over the Chinese, I produced a ten-sen silver coin, and waving it between my fingers, told the man to go and try once more.—The effect was magical. In another quarter of an hour a canful of water was before us, and although it was dirty enough, about twenty of us managed to wipe our faces and hands with wet towels.

I regret I cannot tell you whence I am writing this letter. We are settled here for the time being, though we may receive any day orders to move on.

The odour of the Chinese, a result of their constant use of opium, is most offensive. We get sick when they are within six feet of us, and then we have to put in Chinese houses infested by bugs.

Since our arrival here, we have received only one mail. Two copies of your paper arrived at the same time. They are a great solace to me in such an inconvenient place.—Kobe Chronicle.

THE WEATHER.

The following report is from Mr. J. I. Plummer, Chief Assistant of the Hongkong Observatory:—

On the 18th at 5.5 p.m. The barometer has risen in S. China and in the Philippines and fallen in the North. Gradients are moderate over the China Coast and fresh S.E. winds will prevail in the Formosa Channel. Over the China Sea they are still very steep and very strong, but moderating S.W. monsoon will be experienced there.

Forecast.—Strong S.W. winds, showery

"NORTHERN STAR" IN COLLISION.

COURT OF INQUIRY.

At the instance of Mr. W. B. Dixon, chief manager of the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd., an inquiry was held by the Harbour Master this morning into the circumstances connected with a collision between the dock launch "C. 5" and the Star Ferry Company's Northern Star, on 9th inst.

The coxswain of the Dock launch said that at 8.30 p.m. on the day in question he was proceeding across the harbour when he saw the Northern Star ahead showing her three lights, about a hundred yards distant. He blew two blasts on the whistle indicating that he was going to direct his course to port. He did so, and shortly afterwards his launch came into collision with the ferry boat, which struck the craft on the starboard bow.

The cox of the Northern Star deposed that at the time named he saw the dock launch about 600 yards away. He ported his helm, slightly and blew one blast on the whistle. The approaching launch turned her head to port and he struck her on the starboard bow, having no time to turn to one side.

The Hon. Barnes Lawrence held that the "C. 5" launch was to blame inasmuch as the cox should have ported his helm in the first instance, and brought his red light to the red light of the Northern Star, when the vessels would have kept clear. He, therefore, suspended the man's certificate for a month.

TRAGEDY ON STONECUTTER'S.

FOUR INDIANS SHOT.

THREE KILLED.

A court of inquiry, presided over by Major Hurley, was held this morning at the barracks of the 114th Mahrattas, Elgin Road, for the purpose of inquiring into the circumstances connected with an awful tragedy enacted at Stonecutter's Island last Saturday afternoon by which three Indians were shot dead, and another slightly wounded. The proceedings were conducted in private, but a representative of this paper was able to corroborate the main facts of the occurrence as gathered earlier in the day. It would seem that shortly after half-past three on Saturday afternoon, a non-commissioned officer belonging to the 114th Mahrattas, a detachment of which was at Stonecutter's Island, made a report to Lieutenant D. Pudsey, No. 8 Company, Royal Garrison Artillery, to the effect that one of the sentry on duty at the East Battery had shot several of his comrades and bolted into the scrub. A search was instituted with the result that the dead body of the Indian soldier, was found lying in the bushes with a bullet wound in his chest and his rifle at his side. An examination of his cartridge pouch revealed the fact that out of ten rounds of ball ammunition eight had been fired the empty cases of which were subsequently found in the vicinity of the guard room. Meanwhile, his victims had been picked up and removed into shelter from a heavy thunderstorm which broke over the Island at this time. It would seem that early in the afternoon the Indian had been put on sentry-go, and nothing of an unusual character occurred till about 3.30 when the man seems suddenly to have lost his head; for, he turned round and, pointing his rifle at a man lying on the ground, pulled the trigger and shot him dead. The sentry noticed that other men were near, and before any preventive measure could be taken he had discharged his rifle again and killed a second man, after which he took random shots at several soldiers, one of whom was wounded, and then bolted into the thicket, where he was subsequently found dead. The only reason for such behaviour on the part of the sentry seems to be that he had been bereft of his senses on account of the heat, which had been unusually intense during the few preceding days.

The Unionist Council and Fiscal Reform.

LONDON, 15th July.

Mr. Chamberlain presided at the first meeting of the re-constituted Unionist Council. Eighteen hundred delegates were present; Mr. Chamberlain received an immense ovation and was elected president. Lord Lansdowne and Lord Selbourne were elected vice-presidents. A Fiscal Reform resolution was practically unanimously accepted. This indicates Mr. Chamberlain's complete capture of the Unionist machine.

At a monster demonstration in The Albert Hall, in the evening, of 12,000 people, Mr. Chamberlain was the chief speaker. Lord Lansdowne, in acknowledging the resolution approving of the fiscal policy of the Government, declared it would greatly strengthen the hands of the Premier.

THE CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

AT THE SUPREME COURT.

There were six cases on the calendar of the Criminal Sessions which commenced before the Chief Justice (Sir William Gooden) at the Supreme Court this morning, with these cases: twelve persons were concerned three being indicted for bribery, three with robbery, five with armed robbery and receiving stolen property, and one with attempted murder and shooting with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

ROBBERY.

The first case before the Court was that in which Lam King, Cheong Wing and Chan Sui were indicted for robbery. They pleaded not guilty and the following jurors were sworn:—Messrs. E. B. Shepherd, V. E. Kusler, A. Bryer, A. Bryson, A. S. D. Cousland, H. Gittings and F. Campbell.

The Attorney General (Sir H. S. Berkeley), who prosecuted, pointed out to the jury that the prisoners were charged together with robbing a woman and her daughter at No. 71 Station Street, Mongkok, Kowloon, on June 10 at 11 a.m. Leung Sau Lin and her daughter were in their house and heard a knock at the door. On opening three men were seen. They said they were plumbers and had come to stop a leak in the house. As soon as they gained admittance they seized the woman and her daughter, gagged, and bound them, and collected a considerable sum of jewellery and money and cleared out. The woman identified the first accused positively, and another witness identified him as being a man who left the house about the time the robbery was committed. Some jewellery was found in his possession which was identified as part of the stolen property. The second and third men were also identified by the women.

In the course of her evidence the daughter stated that when she came into her mother's room one of the three men struck her on the face. She fell unconscious to the floor and when she recovered consciousness the man had gone. She had a thin rope tied round her neck, and her mother was lying gagged and bound on the floor.

Each of the accused was sentenced to five years' hard labour, and 24 strokes on the birch.

ALLEGED ARMED ROBBERY.

Five Chinese were indicted with armed robbery, at Malauwei, at mid-night on the 11th ult. One of them pleaded guilty and the case against the other four was proceeded with.

According to the Attorney General the men entered a farmer's house, armed with revolvers, and other weapons, and after securing the inmates proceeded to rob the place. The father's son subsequently gave chase and overtook one of them (the man who had pleaded guilty) and found on him a loaded revolver. This man subsequently took the police to a marsh where three others were arrested. Two of them had stolen property in their possession.

(Proceeding.)

The Gardener's Chronicle reports that Messrs. E. W. King & Co., seed growers of Coggeshall, Essex, have recently purchased a few pounds of Findlay's latest potato, the Eldorado, at the high price of £150 per pound, and of which they have sold some at £160 per pound, or at the rate of £358,400 per ton. This is probably the highest price ever paid for potatoes. The raiser, Mr. Findlay, does not intend to offer this potato until the spring of 1905, and then his price will be three guineas per pound.

THE WAR.

The Japan Times of the 25th ult. says:—

A beautiful reminiscence is reported from the front in connection with the third blocking expedition to Port Arthur, which took place on May 3. After that exciting night, when the Japanese ships rode through a terrible hail of missiles and the water was continually heaving under them owing to the explosion of mines, our torpedo-boats were despatched to rescue from the sea the survivors of the forlorn hope. One of the dead bodies then recovered was that of warrant officer Shikanosuke Kageyama, who had gone to almost certain death for the Otari Maru. On opening his clothes, there was found in his breast-pocket a booklet, which was soaked with water and blood. The book was the Gospel of St. John. An officer who was well acquainted with the deceased stated that this book of the beloved disciple of Christ had been given to the officer by Miss Maclean of London, whose hospitality towards our sailors during their sojourn in England is so well known. It appears that Kageyama received the present during his visit to England as one of the crew deputed to bring the battleship Mikasa to Japan. Since then he has never parted with the book, and has read it in times of peace as well as in war. He was naturally a gallant and patriotic sailor, but became more so on account of the admirable faith he derived from reading the invaluable work. According to his friend, he was a firm believer in the words of Christ that, those who believe shall not perish. He went to the deadly fight with this faith, and died peacefully with the book close to his bosom. As a souvenir of a memorable occasion, the book was deemed too precious to be buried with the gallant officer, and it was accordingly returned a few days ago to Miss Maclean, with the statement of the heroic end of its late owner, it being thought that the English lady would be glad to know that her gift had been so dearly cherished by one of the best and bravest of the Japanese sailors, all of whom she loves so well.

CORRESPONDENCE.

(We do not necessarily endorse the opinions expressed by Correspondents in this column.)

AN APPEAL TO THE PARSEES OF THE FAR EAST.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG TELEGRAPH." SIR,—By the Manila papers it will be seen that the Parsee barrister for want of funds could not secure legal assistance there. From the Hongkong papers it can be seen that he intends to defend himself and retain counsel. Here, then, is one of your own people in trouble. Give him the opportunity he seeks; give him the wherewithal he needs; give him the facilities he requires; give him the chance he wants to vindicate himself and leave the rest to law and justice. In helping him with funds to avail himself of the best available legal assistance in the Colony, you would be accelerating the course of justice. We are under the benign British Rule; we enjoy liberty of person and freedom of speech; we are governed by just and impartial laws; we have learned and fair-minded ministers of justice; and the very essence of British Law and British Justice is that no man shall be denied a hearing, and that all facilities shall be put in his way to obtain pure and unalloyed justice. Do your duty to this fellow-creature of yours; rise equal to the occasion; think of nothing but bare and impartial justice, and you will earn the complete satisfaction of your own conscience for having nobly done your duty at the call of duty. Fail in that duty, and you are untrue to yourself, to your own fellow-creatures, and to the very Government, whose subjects you are, namely England, which requires every man to do his duty.

A BRITISH SUBJECT.

Hongkong, 18th July, 1904.

TROUBLE ON THE S.S. "OVID."

TWO MEN IMPRISONED.

Drink has been the cause of trouble on board of the coal steamer Ovid, which arrived from Moji some ten days ago. According to the tale told to the Hon. Barnes Lawrence at the Marine Court this morning, Thomas Douglas, a donkeyman, and George Hornsby, a fireman, were worse for liquor yesterday afternoon in consequence of which they assaulted Adam Waugh, the chief engineer. The former was charged with disobeying orders and assault, and from what the chief engineer related to the Harbour Master, it would seem that yesterday afternoon he went to the donkey boiler room and found Douglas in a state of intoxication. As the man was not fit to look after the boiler he was ordered to leave the place. He replied that he would not go and, after abusing the Chief Engineer, struck him on the face. The witness then took him by the arm and led him out and had the police flag hoisted. Captain Cabitt told the Court that the man when being led away from the donkey room forced his way into the saloon, and made use of blasphemous language at the same time threatening the Chief Engineer. The prisoner, who pleaded guilty to disobedience, but not to the charge of assault, said he did not remember what he was doing at the time, beyond that he got a bang on the face, after which he walked out of the cabin.

The Court considered the case proved, and the man was sent to gaol for four weeks.

ANOTHER ASSAULT.

At the same Court, George Hornsby was charged with assaulting the chief engineer about 5.30 in the afternoon the man went aboard the worse for liquor and, meeting Douglas, was told to go forward. He then made use of insulting language and struck the chief engineer on the mouth. Mr. Waugh closed with him and they both fell on deck. The 3rd mate went to the assistance of the chief engineer and the chief officer was sent for. He brought a set of handcuffs, which was fastened on the man, and he was subsequently sent to the police station.

The prisoner, who pleaded guilty to the charge, said he had been ashore for five hours. He did not see that the chief engineer had any right to order him to go forward.

The chief engineer was recalled, and informed the Court that it had never been customary nor had he permitted any of the crew to hold intercourse with the man on duty in the donkey engine room.

The Harbour Master sent the accused to prison for six weeks.

THE "ALGOA" ASHORE.

BADLY DAMAGED.

In clear weather and a smooth sea, with the sun not far from the meridian, the huge freight steamer Algoa ran on the rocks a short distance to the west and north of Point Bonita lighthouse, at the entrance to the harbour, yesterday morning, says a San Francisco journal of the 8th ult. The time of striking is reported to have been 10.15 o'clock.

Though heavily laden, the Algoa had an almost miraculous escape from becoming a total loss, for, without assistance, she managed to haul off into deep water and proceed on her way into the harbour. A few minutes later a fleet of tugboats was hurrying pell-mell down the bay with the prospect of immense salvage looming up before them. Their services were, however, not required.

The big Algoa belongs to the Pacific Mail Company, and was thirty-one days from Hongkong and eighteen days from Yokohama. On board she had a cargo of 10,215 tons of miscellaneous merchandise from the Orient, valued at about $500,000, the principal items being 867 packages of curries, 466 bags of peanuts, 4,699 bales of gunnies, 2,307 bales of hemp, 4,342 bales of jute, 10,619 rolls of matting, 4,811 bags of sulphur, 34,747 mats of rice, 4,752 bags of sugar, 6,633 chests of tea and 17,904 packages of merchandise.

Captain A. Lockett, long connected with the Algoa, was in command and on the bridge when the steamer struck. He says he was bringing the vessel down the north channel, and was about to round Point Bonita when an unknown bark, towing out, afterward found to be the Mohican, appeared some distance ahead. To avoid a possible collision the engines were stopped, with the result that the powerful ebb tide caught the big steamer in its grasp and swung the bow inshore.

STRIKES WITH GREAT SHOCK.

Before anything could be done to check the headway the Algoa struck with a great shock and a noise like the crashing of timbers. The starboard anchor was immediately let go. It had the effect of staying the progress of the vessel in great measure. Perceptible jarring followed the first impact, and all hands believed the steamer would swing broadside on and turn over.

In the excitement attending the accident many Chinese members of the crew made a dash for the lifeboats and were about to cut the ropes attached to the davits when Captain Lockett and the other officers ordered them back, assuring the frightened Chinese that they were in no immediate danger. Captain Lockett, First Officer H. Nelson and Second Officer C. L. Patterson remained cool, as also did Third Officer W. H. Lloyd, who was on the bridge with the captain. None of the men below deck showed undue excitement and all remained on duty.

A moment after striking an order to back at full speed was promptly obeyed by the engineer. All hands were wrought up to great anxiety, as the engines labored to drag the tremendous weight from the rocks. For five minutes the propeller churned the sea into a boiling mass, when suddenly the Algoa slid back into deep water.

There was still great danger, however, for the Algoa's stern began to swing around, and a jarring indicated that her side had touched the rocks. But the violent action of the propeller saved the steamer, and within a minute later she was entirely clear of the jagged rocks.

TWO HULLS IN STEAMER'S BOW.

Two holes were punctured in the Algoa's bow, and there may be a slight break amidship in the bottom. To the fact that the steamer has a double bottom and bulkheads may be credited her salvation. By the time she came to an anchorage off Lombard-street wharf, at 11.15 o'clock, there was thirteen feet of water in the fore-peak, with more coming in. The pumps on board were unable to overcome the inpour. After a hurried inspection of the vessel by the quarantine officials the Algoa was taken by the tugs Sea Rover and Sea Queen to a berth at Greenwich-street wharf No. 1, where Captain Wilson, chief stevedore for the Pacific Mail Company, immediately began with a large force of men to get the freight out of the steamer. Chief Officer Norton of the steamer N. Rupert, Freight Clerk Robertson of the Sherida and others from the Mail dock were called upon to assist in the big undertaking. The Algoa's cargo is equivalent to about 50 carloads, each of twenty tons' weight, or twenty trains of twenty-five cars each.

There was no pilot on board the Algoa when she went ashore. The pilot-boat America was following the steamer, but it was evidently the intention of Captain Lockett to enter without the customary guide. After striking and backing off, however, Pilot Charles Reed was taken aboard. He took the vessel to her anchorage. Purser George J. Englehardt of the Algoa is a survivor of the wreck of the Rio de Janeiro, which went down at Fort Point on February 12, 1901, almost opposite the spot where the Algoa had such a narrow escape yesterday.

The Algoa was built in 1896 at Sunderland, England, and is 455 feet long, with a breadth of 58 feet and depth of 2.34 feet. Her gross tonnage is 7775, and net tonnage 4897.

Captain John Olson of the tug Reliance, which took the Mohican to sea, declares that the Algoa was two miles away when she went on the rocks, and that no collision with the Mohican could have been possible.

SLEEPERS FOR THE EAST.

Mr. Sutor, the Commercial Agent for New South Wales in the East, has sent a cable to the Minister for Mines and Agriculture stating, Sydney, that Messrs. Evans and Co., of Shanghai, desire to have c.i.f. quotations Hongkong or f.o.b. port of export for 2,000,000 sleepers, 8 ft. by 8 in. by 6 in. Sleepers of the following timbers will be accepted:—Ironbark, blackbutt, grey gum, flooded gum, box. Deliveries, 1,000,000 per annum. Replies should be cabled at once. In answer to an inquiry as to how payments are to be made for railway sleepers that may be supplied to firms at Manila, Mr. Sutor has informed the Minister for Agriculture that quotations may be for "cash in exchange for documents, Sydney, Government inspection."

COMMERCIAL.

FREIGHT.

Writing under date, 16th inst., Messrs Lamke and Rogge, report:—The general condition of the freight market shows very little alteration. The inquiry for tonnage has been somewhat livelier and a larger amount of business has been put through than during the preceding fortnight, but rates of freight have continued to rule low and an improvement in the near future seems rather problematic.

As regards Saigon-Hongkong business, the market has collapsed altogether and rates have now reached such a low level, that chartering has become quite impracticable. A couple of boats, bound back to this port still succeeded in getting 13 cents per picul (one of them originally chartered at 17 cents), but the latest fixture was at the ruinously low rate of 10 cents per picul and, at time of writing, the demand has subsided altogether. There seems to be quite sufficient grain at Saigon, but prices are much too high in comparison to local quotations, which are 60 to 80 cents per picul, according to quality, lower than same time last year, and the rice crops all over Southern China being exceptionally good, an advance of prices locally is not likely. The feasibility of further business for this port would seem to entirely rest with holders of grain at Saigon; if a sufficient outlet for the commodity continues to show itself in shipments to Europe and other directions there may be no need for material concessions and matters will remain at a deadlock, filling which, a reduction in prices may render fresh chartering for this port practicable again.

As a matter of fact, there have been fairly numerous inquiries of late from Saigon to Java, Philippines and Japan and, though rates have been anything but remunerative ones, a moderate amount of chartering has been transacted.

For a port in the Philippines, 27 cents per picul has been paid, for a port on the N. C. Java, 20 cents per picul and for a port in Japan, 25 to 28 cents per picul, according to size of steamer. In all these directions, further demand is prevailing but it would almost seem from present appearances that further business will only become practicable if even lower rates are accepted than those quoted above.

Agent the Bangkok market, nothing fresh can be said, business remaining absolutely stagnant.

From Java to this, a couple of charters have been done at 30 cents and 28 cents per picul respectively dry or wet sugar, but the demand is very limited.

No improvement is noticeable as far as Newchwang business is concerned and settlements are few and far between. For Canton, two charters are reported at 26 cents per picul; for Amoy, a small craft has been fixed at 30 cents per picul and for Swatow, a fixture is reported at as low as 21 cents per picul.

Coal freights from Japan ports have ruled as dull as heretofore. There is no demand whatever for this port and the total business of the fortnight has been restricted to the local fixture of two boats for Singapore at the low rate of $1.40 per ton, and one steamer, Kuchinotzu to Hongkong at $2 per ton.

From Hongkong to this, a settlement is reported at $1.50 per ton and for Chinkiang at $1.20 per ton.

On monthly terms, there is hardly any demand traceable.

Sail Freight:—No change to report. Sail-tonsage loading or to load.—For Callao.—Italian bark Maria L., arrived 9th April. For New York.—British 4-m. bark Eclipse, arrived 10th May. British 4-m. bark Kentmere, arrived 15th June. Disengaged.—British bark Trangate, 949 tons. Departures:—None.

THE HONGKONG TELEGRAPH.

1, ICE HOUSE ROAD,
HONGKONG.

CABLE ADDRESS.—Telegraph, Hongkong.

THE leading English Newspaper in China
Also widely circulated in Japan, Cochinchina, Ceylon, India and the Far East generally.

A daily newspaper with weekly edition published for despatch by the homeward mail. The daily is recommended as more generally suitable, except for subscribers in Europe or America.

A special feature is made of full and accurate reports of local occurrences, and of matters of general interest.

ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT.

The Hongkong Telegraph is the best medium for advertising in China. It circulates largely among all classes of the community, is the largest daily newspaper and has a wider circulation than any journal in the Far East.

Special attention given to effectively displaying advertisements.

The type used as a standard for setting advertisements is similar to this, unless we are instructed to display the advertisement, when any effective style of type will be adopted. This standard runs exactly eight lines to the inch, and about eight words to the line.

ADVERTISEMENT RATES.
